Classroom News

Don't forget Scholastic Book Orders are due Thursday! Please place your order online. Thank you for your support as I am able to get free books for our classroom library with purchases!

Daylight Savings Time is this weekend. Move your clocks forward one hour.

Students are only expected to be able to solve 8 addition and subtraction problems for the month of March .

Students are expected to read 40 words per minute for the month of March. Please continue to monitor your child's reading.

We finished up our unit on Dr. Seuss and we had a great time learning about him. Dr. Seuss is one of my favorite units to teach!

Also, we finished up measuring with a ruler to an inch and nearest inch yesterday. We started graphing today and will complete it by next Friday.
