Academics

ELA: Monday and Tuesday we completed our Beginning of the Year Testing in Reading. We were delayed due to the delay in the desk shipment. However, we are all caught up and will address individual student areas of concern. Since the testing took two days, we started our week in reading late. This will put our next weekly test on 9/10. Please ask your child about the weekly vocabulary and it's meaning.

MATH: We completed the Beginning of the Year Testing in Math, and I will be working to identify individual student areas of concern. Please start working with your child on multiplication fluency. 0-9 should be the focus with speed and accuracy the priority.

Word of the Week: Kindness

Skyward: Please check your email for information about accessing Skyward. This is the online grading platform used in this county and will give you direct access to your child's grades. I try to update weekly for my sanity and for you to track how your child is doing week to week.

Coach's Corner: Students continue to work on eye/hand coordination and teamwork skills.

Katje's Art Studio: No updates provided

Writing Corner: Encourage your child to write! Let them make the grocery list or have them write a short paragraph to what they want for their birthday. Children know how to "argue" their point, now we need them to write about it.
