Research Papers

This week in second grade, we are excited to introduce our students to the world of research papers! Our young scholars will be learning about how to conduct research, organize their findings, and write about what they have learned in a clear and concise manner. Through this process, our students will gain valuable skills such as critical thinking, information literacy, and effective communication. We encourage you to ask your child about their research topic and the interesting facts they have discovered. These will be in class and not for homework.
